You may “tag” a Distinction or Torment when it applies to a roll for either a positive or negative effect. When applied positively, gain □. When applied negatively, gain □ and a fate point is added to the party sheet. This bonus is not automatic, and must be invoked by the player. The player decides whether the effect is positive or negative.